Denial rate: Under 18 34.33%, 18–35 31.35%, 36–50 32.55%, 51–65 35.98%, Over 65 33.78%. Over 65 has the most claims (1,569) and denials (530). 51–65 includes age 65.

Claim amount & patient income by status

ClaimStatus	Average Claim Amount	Median Claim Amount	Average Patient Incom
Approved	$5,123.59	$5,228.05	$84,790.1
Denied	$4,993.98	$5,070.57	$83,374.3
Total	$5,014.20	$5,053.77	$84,384.2

CLAIM AMOUNT & INCOME

Average claimed amount: Approved $5,123.59, Denied $4,993.98, Pending $4,921.50.
Average patient income: Approved $84,790.18, Denied $83,374.37, Pending $85,004.49.
Differences are small. ClaimAmount is the amount claimed, not paid, and no causal link is shown.

BUSINESS OBSERVATIONS & RECOMMENDATIONS

- About one in three claims is denied in every segment; none stands out sharply.
- Review the Online channel first: highest denied count and rate (35.93%).
- Look at General Practice (35.45%) and ages 51–65 (35.98%), the highest rates in their groups.
- Track Nov, Jun, Feb and Dec (highest pooled rates) over more years of data.
- Add denial reason codes so findings can become actions.

DATASET LIMITATIONS

- Denied counts are not rates; rates use all claims in the segment.
- Monthly figures pool the same month across years, not a timeline.
- Data covers Jul 2022 – Jul 2024; 2022 and 2024 are partial years.
- ClaimAmount is the amount claimed, not paid.
- No denial reasons, processing times, payouts or fraud labels.
- Most provider locations have very few claims; no conclusions drawn.
- Diagnosis and procedure code meanings are unknown.
- No causal link between age, income, specialty, channel or amount and denial
